During the meeting, the state of the art of the different final products were presented by their respective leaders and the last steps for their completion were agreed upon.

On the other hand, our coordinator presented the strategy for carrying out the final events and for the final dissemination actions of the project.

The good atmosphere and hard work were the guides for our meeting and working together again on a future project was our common plan. Thanks to all partners for their involvement and great work.

During TPM in the course of teamwork, deep and though constructive discussions arose in assessing the quality and challenges of the work performed in the project. It is impressive that all the project teams unanimously agreed that the work in the project doubled the efficiency of work even in the period of pandemic Covid-19 risks.
